

The image shows a green circuit board with various orange components along the top edge, including a large circular component on the left and a series of smaller rectangular components. A central black rectangular area contains a green display screen. The screen shows the text "Fare" on the first line and "disconnected" on the second line, both in a pixelated font. A white arrow points to the right from the right edge of the black area.

Fare disconnected